

Tintswalo Atlantic is a HOT TIP

Local boutique lodge Tintswalo Atlantic is hot, according to the US edition of Conde Nast Traveler.

The news appears on the publisher's website as well as in the May edition of the highly acclaimed glossy magazine, confirming the growing recognition that Tintswalo Atlantic is the perfect place to visit for an unparalleled experience of the magnificent Atlantic ocean.

Nestled as it is at the base of Chapman's Peak – it is the only lodge situated on the pebbled Cape Town coastline – so the views of the Sentinel and out towards the ocean are breathtaking.

“We are exceptionally fortunate to be in such a unique location,” says Michelle du Plessis, Managing Director of the Tintswalo Collection, “but like any property, the real heart and soul experience is made by the people who look after our guests. We have a great team that go out of their way to make each and every guest feel special. From the minute they arrive to the time that they leave, we attend to their needs in every way. Exceptional food, superb surroundings and a keen understanding of when guests need privacy and when they need attention is all part of our delivery.”

“Our team made this happen and we are exceptionally proud of them,” she concludes.
